

GOVERNMENT

What do you know about Governments?

A government is a system that is set up to help make laws and decisions for a group of people. Governments are designed to keep order in a society by making sure that the citizens are following the rules.

There are many different types of governments all over the world. Some governments are ruled by one person, and some governments are ruled by everyone. Either way, the leader or leaders of the government make decisions based on what they think is right.

Please login or register to download the printable version of this study guide.

www.newpathlearning.com

Some examples

are:

- Aristocracy
- Democracy
- Dictatorship
- Anarchy
- Oligarchy

Not all governments are successful, and not all citizens are happy with the government of their country.

In the United States, which is a democracy, there are three levels of government, and each branch has a different job to do. The U.S. government uses the three branches of government to make sure that there is a balance of power.

